

Public Sector Leadership Bio

Shari Snyder

Director, Special Program Sales

Shari Snyder leads special program sales as part of the Lumen Technologies Public Sector organization. She manages a team of professionals who support the intelligence community with dynamic networking, cloud connectivity, edge computing and cybersecurity solutions that help agencies transform their digital environments.

Shari is known for collaborating with intelligence agencies and executive branch departments to provide best-in-class mission-focused IT solutions. She specializes in account strategies that harmonize people, processes, tools and platforms to achieve results and advance innovation for federal agency customers.

An established senior business and technology executive with more than 30 years of experience supporting the U.S. intelligence and national security communities, Shari is focused on helping the U.S. achieve its intelligence mission, foreign policy goals and national security objectives.