1.8 Dark Fiber

Individual Case Basis (ICB) Pricing - Dark Fiber pricing is subject to a very detailed scoping exercise that would have to be defined on a project by project basis. Dark Fiber projects generally incorporate existing fiber routes, subject to availability and can be combined with fiber construction projects to support design requirements. Engage your CenturyLink Sales Rep to develop a scope of work and present pricing.

The pricing would be defined based on discovery driven by the customer input and the variables below:

Dark Fiber has many unique components that present variables that differ application to application.

Route Miles – the per mile rate is impacted by both fiber availability on a path as well as the physical miles of the path.

Lateral Construction – Construction cost to connect the State facility to the Centurylink fiber hand/manhole.

Splice Complexity – Splicing cost vary based on conditions encountered at the splice point. This includes access permits to hand/manholes located on access-controlled Right-of-Way.

Path Diversity Requirements – Many times the most direct path cannot be used because of diversity requirements established by the end user.

Path Conditions/Availability

 This network component requires access line pricing as provided in the pricing catalog. Access line pricing for On-Net locations has been provided as a "Not-To-Exceed" price. Additional discounting can be provided on a project by project basis.

Off-Net pricing is performed on an Individual Case Basis and pricing will be quoted on a site by site basis. Contact your CenturyLink Account Rep and they will be able to determine if a site can be reached using any of our 3rd party local access partners or analyzed for a new fiber build. Where applicable the "Not-To-Exceed" pricing will be used where facilities are available and special construction is not required.
