Kate Johnson

Chief Executive Officer

Kate Johnson is the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Lumen Technologies and a member of its board of directors.

Kate is a seasoned technology innovator with a proven track record of driving business transformation at several Fortune 100 companies. Focused on advancing innovation and shareholder value, Kate leads with the strategic and go-to-market skills developed over 20 years as a growth-oriented B2B enterprise technology disruptor.

Kate champions digital innovations that create the best customer experience and solutions. This starts with unlearning old success models and creating an environment that spurs advancement and sets Lumen apart.

Kate joined the company in 2022. Prior to Lumen, Kate held executive leadership roles at Microsoft, GE Digital, and Oracle, as well as various commercial and technology leadership roles at Red Hat, UBS Investment Bank and Deloitte Consulting. She previously served on the board of directors for UPS.

Kate earned her bachelor’s degree in electrical engineering from Lehigh University and her MBA from the University of Pennsylvania’s Wharton School.
